Alabama Printer Gives Clew Which Proves Valuable

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Detroit, Mich., July 26.—The woman whose mutilated body was shipped in a trunk from Detroit to New York has been positively identified by the Detroit police as Mrs. C. Leroy, formerly Miss Katherine Jackson, of Starkville, Miss., police Inspector McCarty asserted today.

Clothing found in the trunk with the body has been positively identified by Patrolman Trumbull and his wife as having belonged to Mrs. Leroy, the inspector said. Trumbull and his wife were intimately acquainted with the Leroy.

Tatum Tells of Woman.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Birmingham, Ala., July 26.—A photograph and detailed description of Allen A. Tatum, a printer employed here, together with a statement by him were sent to the Detroit police. Tatum declared that he believes the woman whose body was found in a trunk in New York was Katherine Jackson, Starkville, Miss.

Hearing that his name had been mentioned with the trunk murder mystery, he went to police headquarters and volunteered the information that he was acquainted with the Jackson woman; that he had gone to Detroit to see her at her own invitation and that he knew she had married a man named Leroy.

Tatum said that the young woman had told him her husband was jealous of her.

The statements of Tatum gave rise to a police theory that Leroy had discovered his wife's interest in Tatum, that he had killed her and then shipped the body to "A. A. Tatum" to incriminate the man whom he thought to be his rival.

Tatum is at liberty.

CHICAGO CLEW FAILS.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, July 26.—All efforts to connect Roy Miller, a former army aviator, with the mysterious Detroit trunk murder failed today when Patrolman Lee Trumbull of the Detroit police department was unable to identify Miller as the missing Eugene Leroy.

The prisoners, including Miller, were lined up for Patrolman Trumbull's inspection. He walked from one end of the line to the other, scanning the faces of the men closely. Then he announced "Leroy" was not in the line.

Knew Leroy's.

Patrolman Trumbull was personally acquainted with the missing Leroy and his wife as they lived in the same neighborhood in Detroit. Miller is shorter than Leroy, Trumbull said and his features are more pointed.

Miller, who was arrested in a hotel here last night, probably will be released later in the day after he is again questioned.

Duffy & Hartzell Buy Another Store

John Duffy and Lex Hartzell, proprietors of the City Meat Market on Hennepin avenue, have purchased the stock and fixtures of the A. W. Gilliland grocery and market at 119 East First street and took possession this morning. Mr. Gilliland expects to leave Dixon in a few days for California.

The increase volume of business at the Hennepin avenue place of business has made the extension necessary for the new proprietors who will continue along the same policy and with high grade of meat as handled at the City market.

CAN END STRIKE OF ILLINOIS MINERS IF GOVT. WILL KEEP OUT

—PRES. FARRINGTON

Head of State Miners' Insists Lewis Keep Hands Off

BULLETIN

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Terre Haute, Ind., July 26.—Indiana's coal field today is partially paralyzed by an unauthorized strike of day laborers and drivers following a similar action in the Illinois field. Fifty mines near Terre Haute are idle.

President Edward Stewart of District No. 11, United Mine Workers of America this morning wired President Wilson urging a conference of miners and operators of the states in the competitive field, for the purpose of presenting the matter to the proper authorities for settlement. The day laborers claim they were discriminated against in the recent wage award.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Springfield, Ill., July 26.—President Frank Farrington of the Illinois miners' union issued, a statement this morning that "if Mr. Lewis will keep his hands off and the government will permit it, the operators and miners in this state can get together and within a very few hours work out a satisfactory arrangement that will result in resumption of mining in Illinois."

"The statement alleged to have been made by International President Lewis is to the effect that he would call out miners of other districts outside of Illinois if the Illinois operators made any concessions to the Illinois miners," said Mr. Farrington's statement.

"can have only one effect and that will be that every powerful interest in the country as well as governmental influences will combine and bring pressure to bear upon Illinois operators to prevent their making any concessions."

Will Be No Necessity

"There will be no necessity for Mr. Lewis to call a strike as threatened as the operators in the competing districts will, no doubt, make the same concessions made by Illinois operators and the necessity for a strike will thus be avoided and the country assured a steady coal production during the winter."

"Every concession asked can be granted without increasing the present price paid by the public for coal. The only thing needed to straighten out the trouble is for the federal government to permit the Illinois miners and operators to get together."

Some Untruths

"Public statements that the miners are asking time and a half for overtime and double time for Sundays have no foundation in fact."

"And as for the probable effect of a possible appeal by President Wilson, I do not care to offer any prediction, except to say that the Illinois miners are pretty well fed up on appeals and have now reached the point where they want something substantial. As for the trouble is for the federal government to permit the Illinois miners and operators to get together."

Conditions in the Illinois coal fields are not materially changed. A number of independent coal companies Mr. Farrington said, had agreed to the demands of the shift hands, including payment of the $2 a day increase.

Three conciliators of the labor department held a conference this morning but declared they had formulated no plans. President Farrington whom they are to meet at noon said there is nothing for the conciliators to do.

The Misses Winifred M. Roe, Katherine Owens and Katherine Durkes and John Roe are visiting for a few days in Chicago at the homes of Messrs. Crawford, Templeton and Canterbury.

STRIKE HITS DIXON

Manager Frank Sutterlin of the Dixon artificial ice company announced this morning that on account of the general tie up of mines in Illinois and the strike of the miners of this state, that it would be necessary to close down the ice plant this week. Natural Rock River ice will then be supplied to the customers until the shortage made with the striking miners.

The plant receives its coal supply from one of the southern mines and Saturday received notice that their orders could not be filled. Manager Sutterlin has a small supply of fuel on hand but not sufficient to operate the artificial plant for any length of time. It will probably be necessary to shut down the ice plant in a day or two, according to his statement.

SCARCITY OF TENTS

KEEPS MANY CAMPERS

FROM ASSEMBLY PARK

Management Trying to Get Tents Before Opening Saturday

A scarcity of tents is causing the management of the Rock River Assembly Park and by next Saturday, the opening day, every tent will be occupied. Several towns never represented at the Assembly by campers, will be represented in that manner this session.

Dixon Orchestra to Play

Local patrons of the Assembly will be pleased to know that Dixon Symphony Orchestra will have a part in this year's program. This musical organization made a decided hit with Assembly patrons last year.

Another orchestra that will please this session is the Killies Orchestra, an organization composed of nine persons, each a high grade musician.

The Fisher-Shipp Concert Company is another pleasing feature of the program. This is the 15th season that this popular orchestra has been entertaining chautauqua people. This company has traveled over 600,000 miles and has given more than 4000 concerts, appearing in every state in the union many times, with the exception of Nevada and New Mexico.

The management is receiving reports from labor people in nearly every city and town in northern Illinois that they are arranging to attend the Assembly next Sunday to hear Hon. William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor in President Wilson's cabinet. Local people are making plans to attend the presentation of "The Mikado" by the Chicago Light Opera company next Saturday evening, the opening night of the Assembly.

Vienna, July 24.—(By Associated Press) It is reported in apparently reliable quarters here that the first stipulation the Bolsheviks will require to the Poles before entering into peace negotiations will be that the Poles disarm completely so that the negotiations might not be used to gain time or to await the arrival of French or British reinforcements.

TO DISCUSS REPLY.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, July 26.—The approved by the Russian soviet government for a conference in London with the allies, as reported in last night's dispatches, will be subject of an exchange of views between France and Great Britain it is possible that premiers Lloyd George and Millerand will meet during the present week for a discussion on the reply to be made to Moscow.

As reviewed here, the soviet government has sized the allied demand for an armistice with Poland as a pretext for a return to the original soviet campaign for official recognition of the Moscow government and political circles in Paris regard the maneuver as a skillful one which has placed some of the allies, particularly France, in a delicate position.

Grain Market Had Severe Break Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, July 26.—Severe breaks in the grain and provisions markets today accompanied disturbing financial and industrial developments, especially reports of the closing down of a large enterprise on account of inability to sell its product.

Wheat dropped as much as 8 cents a bushel and corn 9¢.

Optimistic bank reports about crop conditions had started the grain market downward, but lowest prices came after word had been circulated of weakness in the stock market and of industrial difficulties. Prices on 'change here finished at the lowest point of the day, with December delivery of corn down to 1.25 in some cases against 1.37½ at the close on Saturday.

SMALL CHANCE OF FINISH IN 6 HOUR LIMIT

Resolute, Beaten Over Line, Soon Passed Challenger

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Sandy Hook, N. J., July 26.—At 3 o'clock today, two hours and a half after the start of the fifth race of 1920 for the America's Cup, Resolute was leading Shamrock IV by about three-quarters of a mile on a beat to the outer mark of a 30 mile windward and leeward course.

Although they had actually covered nearly a dozen miles of a luffing match for possession of the wind—a battle of skippers that took the racing sloops far into the Jersey shore—the racers had covered less than half of the first fifteen mile leg.

With scarcely a breath of air waiting across the racing lane, the contest fast developed into a fight against the six hour time limit which expires at 6:30.

Working further to weather, Resolute, by 3:20 had drifted into a lead of about a mile and a half.

Wind Delayed Start.

The race was postponed today at 11:30 o'clock for 15 minute intervals.

Wind conditions made postponement necessary, for the sloops, sailing around the Ambrose channel light ship shortly before the time set for the start, found not enough wind to waft them over their thirty-mile windward and leeward course within the six-hour time limit.

It was crystal and it seemed a day just suited for Shamrock. She moved over the oily waters without the pounding that characterized her work in previous races.

Course Indicated.

Shortly after noon the regatta committee signalled the following course for the fifth and final cup race:

A 15-mile run from the Ambrose channel light ship south by west half-west, with a 15-mile beat back to the light ship.

At 12:15 the preparatory whistle was blown for a start at 12:30.

Shamrock First Over.

Shamrock passed over the starting line at the Ambrose channel lightship at 12:30:29 official time and her rival followed at 12:31:25, after the starting signal had been sounded at 12:30.

At 12:45 the sloops were moving very slowly with Shamrock still out ahead. She had failed, however, to gain on Resolute since the start.

After the sloops had clung together as if locked, the Englishman at 12:52 began to swing his course, with the American still to weather, preparing to kill his wind once he got on his true course for the mark boat.

The two skippers were still fighting it out at 1:10 when they were within about five miles of the highlands.

At 1:15 Shamrock had increased her lead slightly but both yachts were moving very slowly.

At 1:41 the sloops gybed over and stood along on a southerly course.

Shore observers estimated that the green sloop was leading the defender by not more than 200 yards.

Resolute Took Lead.

At 1:50 Resolute passed Shamrock on the way to the outer mark and was holding a better breeze.

In the luffing which carried the sloops far off their course toward the Jersey shore, Shamrock kept on too far toward the beach and when the yachts finally had gybed around and started toward the outer mark, Resolute slipped into the lead at 1:50 and three minutes later was about 10 seconds ahead of the Lipton craft.

At 1:55, with the sloops reaching down the Jersey shore, Resolute was about 50 yards ahead and about a 100 yards to windward. Captain Adams jostled a balloonier forestay sail on the defender and Shamrock followed with a smaller forestay sail.

At 2:20 Shamrock hit an air-pocket and dropped back and the American sloop at 2:26 had a clear lead about 300 yards. There was almost no breeze.

At 2:37 Resolute was leading by easily half a mile. Both sloops were heading off shore on the starboard tack.

Good Breeze Early.

A brisk "jack order" breeze—about 12 knots—came out of the north-west early today, ironed out the surface of the sea tumbled up by Saturday's storm and provided fine wind conditions for the final contest.

TEXAS TROOPS TURN OUT OFFICIALS

Galveston, Texas—Brigadier General Jake F. Walters, (inset) is military dictator in Galveston. The city has been placed completely under military rule by proclamation of Governor W. P. Hobby. Longshoremen have been on strike for more than three months but there has been no disorder. Martial law was proclaimed over the heated protests of the City Council, which threatened injunction proceedings. Hobby in his proclamation said that the police commissioners and Police Judge O'Dell were not cooperating and four commissioners of all their with the militia. The troops were asked for by the Open Shop Association. City Attorney Anderson and the city officials, fighting the military missioners in an open statement rule, seem to have the support of practically the whole city. Clashes between indignant citizens and the troops are feared. Acting on Hobby's instructions, Walters disarmed the entire police force, from chief down, National Guard camp on the Galveston beach in Menard Park.

ONE GUESS: WHO IS THIS?

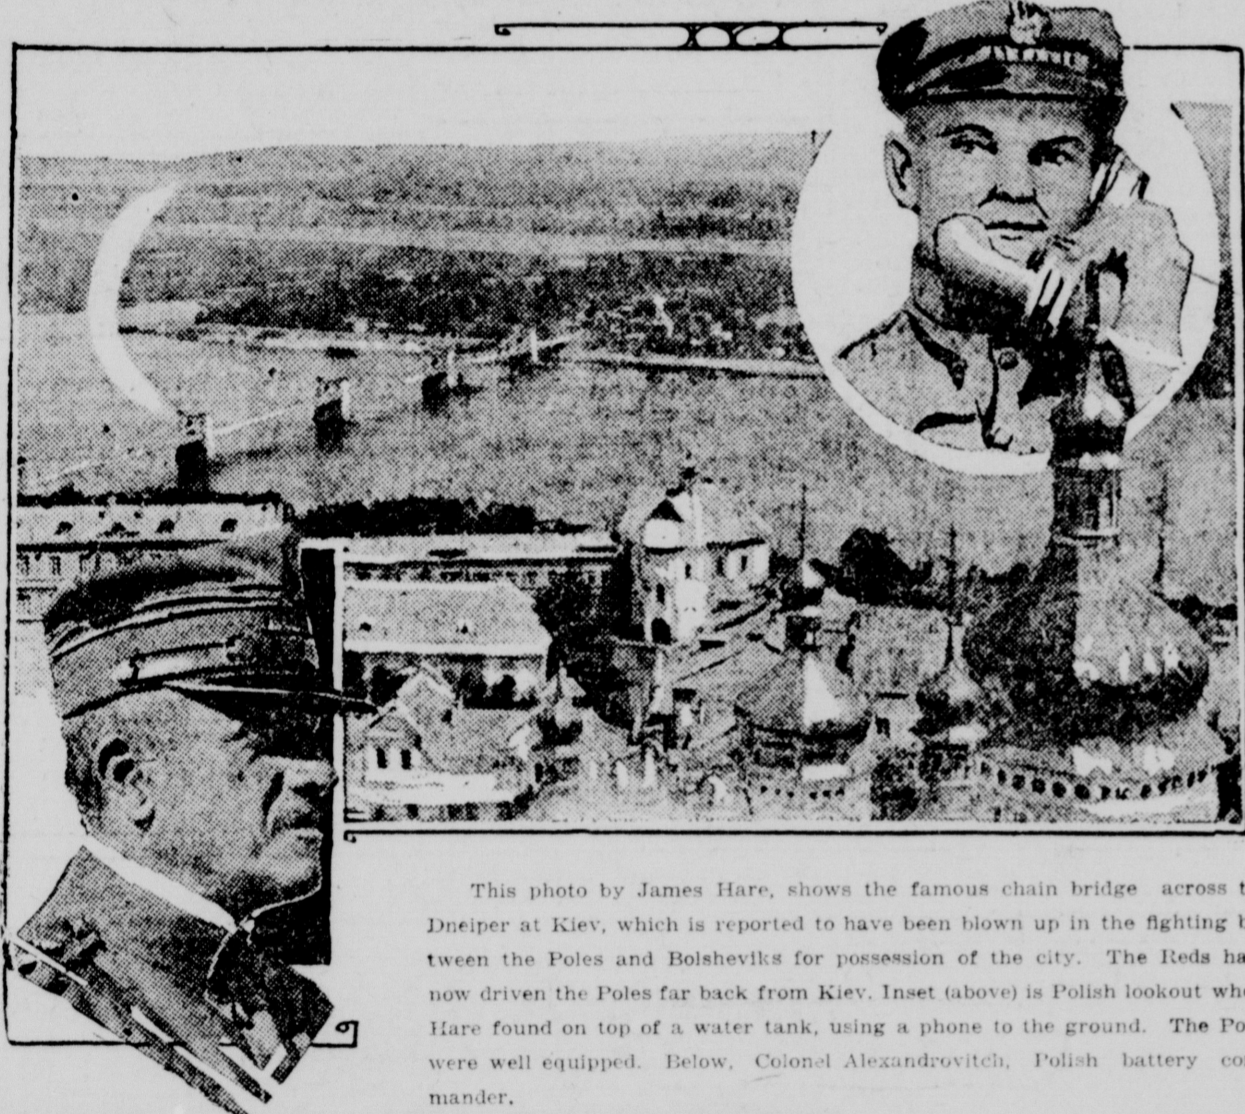

That's just what we thought you'd say—but it isn't President Wilson at all! A lot of the delegates to the Democratic convention were very much startled when Ralph Faulkner, an actor, walked down the aisle in the convention hall. "For the love of Pete, has the president slipped one over and appeared in person?" And then it came out that Faulkner was just having a bit of fun. And the general impression was that Faulkner doesn't have to act to look like Woodrow.

President and Mme. Deschanel PARIS—There is a determined move on foot in political circles to elect a successor to President Paul Deschanel.

BRINGING UP FATHER.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton
Tingling Disappears.
Oliver Ortol finished his poem and Mr. Tingling's suit at the same instant. "There!" said he. "That's done. Now I'm sure it will fit better since I put the gussets into it, and the fairy landlord can breathe better. But if his tummy gets any fatter, I can't fix it again, for I have no more material."
So he called to his wife to rap at Mr. Tingling's door and to tell him that he could get up now, as his clothes were finished.
"Well, well," some veteran reading these lines will exclaim. "I had almost forgotten there were such words."
And yet these words were the ordinary small change of their conversation during their stay in France, and up to the time they landed on home shores.
The truth is the war with all its trimmings has passed from their minds like some nightmare. And that is well. The demobilization is complete even to the slang the war produced.
Returning travelers report that the streets of European capitals still are filled with uniforms. But on American streets the uniform is a rare sight. The boys got out of it, "tout suite" and jumped into their overalls. And who ever hears of them bragging about what they did in the war? Conversations on street cars are about baseball and never about Argonne and St. Mihiel.
They've forgotten they were heroes. And that's fine. Ah oui as they used to say in the A. E. F.

CAR LOADING
Car loading figures compiled by the commission on car service of the American Railroad Association show large increases over last year, in spite of outlaws strikes.
For 12 weeks from March 21 to June 12, reports show 8,264,485 cars of revenue freight loaded, as compared with 7,708,927 for the corresponding period by the same railroads in 1919.
One of the leading factors in shortages of food, fuel and building materials has been the much abused "car shortage." Because there weren't cars at the mine, coal could not be hauled. Lack of cars kept food locked up in storage houses, on farms and in elevators. Building materials could not be transported because there were no cars.
The result: Scarcity of food in the large consuming centers; insufficient fuel for homes and factories; and an abnormal drop in house building, which will continue the house shortage and high rent difficulties through another winter.
The answer, shippers and railroad men insisted, was "more cars."
But there was another answer. It was: Load and unload cars faster; keep 'em moving.
The latter answer, being the one more quickly put into execution, is the winning one. Cars are being delayed less than before. They are not being held up at either end as long as they were. The shipper gets his output into the car and away as quickly as possible. The consignee unloads without unnecessary delay. By doing this they virtually build more cars over night.

ON KISSING
"Why do you indulge in kissing?" was the question asked of students at Columbia University recently. Truly, a foolish question and of all the answers the best was this: "Nobody seems to know and nobody cares."
Analyzing a kiss is as futile as trying to describe the fragrance of a rose. It can't be done. Analysis calls for thinking and the very idea of thinking in connection with a kiss is unthinkable.
If you consult a dictionary of poetic quotations you will find 150 references to kisses and not one of the poets has attempted to analyze a kiss. They merely rave about it.
It is related of a shy and stupid professor who called on his girl one evening, and thinking deftly to lead the way to a kiss, proceeded to recite to her the history of the kissing custom of which there has been considerable written.
He just spoiled the evening for the girl and didn't get his kiss after all, for when he had finished his dissertation all she said was: "My how very interesting!"
And all true lovers will agree it served him right.
Kissing, as most persons know, is not a subject for discussion and deliberation, but for direct action.
Why is a kiss? Nobody seems to know and nobody cares." The kiss is the thing, not the reason thereof.
As the poet sang:
Tell me first who did kisses suggest?
It was a mouth all glowing and blest:
It kissed and it thought of nothing besides.
It would be impossible to tell just who won the war until there is a published list of the profiteers.
Jesse James had his bad points, but he never demanded $55 a month for a little shack worth $15.
The wets will never forgive the impudence of a mere majority.

THE GLOW WORM
Your little boy brings into the house the first "lightning bug" he has caught this season and asks: "What makes the lightning bug light?"
And you scratch your head and, if you are candid father, you admit you don't know. But a good way to enlarge your education is to look up the correct answer to the questions of your children that you can't answer.
So when the boy is out of the room you surreptitiously consult encyclopedia and under "Glow Worm" you find revealed the most wonderful of our summer mysteries.
You discover that the light of the glow worm, or "lightning bug" is phosphorescent and is produced by fatty cells to which run many infinitesimal tubes that carry oxygen which reacts on the phosphorus and makes the light.
You find, too, that the lightning bug is the most perfect of illuminating plants. Man has produced light in heat. It is interesting also to make light without heat, as the lightning bug has been doing for ages.
All the energy of the lightning bug is used for light and none is wasted in heat. It is interesting also to note that the lightning bug produces 26 flashes every minute and, comparatively speaking, not creature works so hard and so steadily to perform its mission.
Indeed, in southern countries and in some parts of Canada, a cousin of our lightning bug is used by wayfarers to light the paths through dark forests at night.
But there is one question your boy will ask that no encyclopedia answers. Why did God make lightning bugs? It must have been for the greater glory of summer nights.

TREASURE BURIED
BY ROBERT W. BABSON
There is an old story of an Italian who worked in his olive orchard day by day, pruning, digging, and in the fall, picking the fruit. His three strong young sons were lazy and never helped their father who was growing old.
There came a day when he could no longer work and soon afterward the tired old body was laid to rest in the earth he had loved and worked in so long.
His three sons were amazed at the reading of his will: "I bequeath to my three sons my olive orchard and equal shares in the treasure that lies buried therein." They exclaimed over it and agreed that they must dig for the treasure lest it be stolen.
They dug up the soil around and between the trees. They could not find the treasure. But their crop was greater than ever before. The olive trees bore such a harvest that each son received from their sale a sum that seemed a fortune.
While they had worked they had learned much, and they suddenly saw what the treasure really was. More over, digging up the orchard had brought them more happiness and health. They saw what a good and wise father they had and were proud to be his sons. Year after year they continued to dig and the orchard never failed to yield its treasures. Their neighbors, who did not dig around around their trees, continued to have the poor crops as before.

Such is Life
BY O. E. JOYFUL
The city visitors brought his fine new fishing tackle, pole, and everything the city sport goods stores sell summer vacationists.
The little form boy tied a hook on to a pole and went his way.
Both were gone all day.
At evening they returned.
The city guy hadn't caught a fish. The city guy had to borrow a wheelbarrow to haul his catch in.
The city slicker went out to the rural districts just after harvest—when plucking was best.
"I'll get every last dollar these rubees have got in their jeans," he boasted.
He did.
The farmer tacked a "Boarders Taken In" on the front gate.
City folks flocked to the country. They saw the sign.
They negotiated for board and paid for it in advance.
They were taken in, all right, all right.
A foxy commission merchant got a consignment of potatoes from a grower.
The crook doctored his scales so he cheated the farmer out of $3.75 on the lot.
And he patted himself on the back—(but)
Before he sent those potatoes the smart old farmer placed some nice round rocks in the middle of the sack.
Rocks weigh more than potatoes.
And he patted himself on the back.
(pause)
A certain young man dolled himself up in his newest suit and niftiest tie and went forth for the world to gaze upon him and admire.
"I'll betcher a dime," he ventured, "that I won't meet a soul who knows me."
He didn't.
(pause)
But the next day he had on his oldest working clothes, and had neglected to shave that morning.
"I'll betcher a dime," he predicted, "I meet everybody I know."
He did.

We Hear Chrys, By Her Marriage is a Member of Royalty
The most important news in the next batch of letters was written by Chrys to her mother. She and Certeis had had an interview, at his request. Certeis assured her that Marib Palmer was entirely wrong about the marriage. Chrys was his wife, and by the marriage ceremony, she had become related to several kings and a half-dozen ex-kings! Certeis had asserted this before her father and Gene Archer, and he had told her to rely upon the papers in the hands of his New York attorneys. He enjoined her to claim his titles and estates in case anything happened to him.
He did not intend to change her relationship in any way. He had urgent affairs to attend to in Europe and he was in a hurry to proceed on his journey.
An so the next day Certeis was taken aboard his own ship and "The Argentine" and the "Blue Bird" left their moorings at the same hour, one going east, the other west.
It was many months before we heard from Hamilton Certeis again. Mother and I discussed Chrys' conduct. It puzzled us. She was married to one man and in love with another. What would she do?
"She's a real duchess and properly entitled to bear one of the oldest names in Europe. She'll make a splendid duchess too!" I remarked.
Dear Mother looked quite done up by the certainty. When she spoke she proved herself awfully sentimental for a woman of her years and experience. She didn't seem to consider a duchess a particularly important personage. She said:
"It means that Chrys will have to put Jordan Spence out of her life forever."
"They've had an awful bad case, we all know," I replied. "And Chrys doesn't care any too much for conventions. But Jordan Spence does, you know."
"That's fortunate," said Mother. "Triangles are getting too familiar in the lives of our neighbors. I don't want one in the family."
"It's a pity that we can't put triangles back into fiction and the drama," I remarked.
"My dear, when I was a girl, nice respectable people never knew the persons who got into divorce courts. Then came a period when divorces were a fad. Scores of children belonging to the millionaire set had

PLAYGROUND LEADERSHIP.
Experience has shown that when many children are playing together a play leader is necessary if we are to keep the playgrounds from falling into the hands of a gang, and prevent it from becoming a public nuisance through noise and disorder. When a playground has a good playleader the boys and girls are conscious of his presence only when he is absent. A good play leader deprives the bully of his power and leaves all the children free. The play leader's presence means freedom for all to play according to the rules of the game. It means a suggestion here and a suggestion there which transforms boy mobs into boy teams. Play leadership does not mean school discipline does not mean providing some one to amuse the children.
One of the field workers of the Playground and Recreation Association of America has said concerning the school playgrounds: "While it is advisable to purchase some balls and to lay out some courts for special games, do not be led into believing that balls and courts constitute a playground. The first essential of a playground is leadership. This cannot be emphasized too strongly."
"Do not be led into thinking that leadership is a mere police duty. It is not discipline in the sense that the word is all too often used in the schoolroom, but it is, rather, organization and leadership."
"Children unused to organized play rarely possess initiative and executive ability sufficient to start games and keep them going. It is the play leader's duty then to organize the game and to act as umpire."
In speaking to leaders she says further:
"You must be right on the ground all the time. Play with the children. You will come into closer contact with your boys and girls, and, if you prove you are fair and square in your decisions and insist upon fair play from them, you will gain their respect and admiration. You will bring home in a half hour's play ethical lessons all the talks in school for a year would fail to impress."
Q. Should sex education be taught in the schools?
A. This is a matter that should be decided by the school authorities after taking into consideration the ages of the pupils and their class status. The Public Health Service has prepared interesting pamphlets on this subject for educators, which will be mailed to anyone requesting it. Write the Information Editor, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., for set "F."

Q. Is there much social disease in the United States? Occasionally one hears or reads, something of the "venereal disease problem," but the information is often meager I would like to get some idea of the real situation.
A. The "venereal disease problem" is one of the gravest this country has to solve. If you will send me your name and address I will mail you a copy of Dr. Stokes' book, "Today's World Problem in Disease Prevention." It is one of the most interesting books obtained on this subject.

Former Pastor South Dixon Charge is Dead

Word has been received here of the death of Rev. Simon F. Entorf, who passed away at his home in Cleveland, Mont., at the age of 60 years. Death was due to injuries sustained in a fall about two months ago and from which he never recovered.

Rev. Entorf will be remembered by many in Dixon and in South Dixon, he having filled the pulpit at the United Evangelical charge in South Dixon 28 years ago.

This was his first charge upon entering the ministry and he was very successful in his work. He conducted a series of evangelistic meetings during his pastorate which will be recalled by many who knew him.

In 1904 he was compelled to give up the South Dixon charge on account of failing health and went west. After several months he partially regained his health and entered the Presbyterian ministry, being assigned to a charge at Cleveland, Mont., where he remained until his death.

"For two years previous to the time I began taking Tanlac I lived principally on a raw-egg diet. During this time I was laid up in the hospital for five months and practically no hope was held out for my recovery. I don't suppose any man had a worse case of stomach trouble than I did, in fact they said I could not live."

"Tanlac did not seem to help me much at first, and I had almost made up my mind to give up, but if I had given it up it would have been the mistake of my life. I stuck to it for a fair test and am thankful that I did for after finishing my fourth bottle, my appetite was better and I noticed myself improving."

"This encouraged me to keep on taking it and in two months I was able to eat a good square meal and digest it as good as anybody. Then it wasn't long until I got so I could go back to my work and at the time I had finished my last bottle, I found I had actually gained forty-four pounds in weight."

"To look at me today no one would ever take me to be the same man I was when I began taking Tanlac."

The above remarkable statement was made recently by John H. Packer, well-known electrical engineer of Liberty, Missouri.

Tanlac is sold in Dixon by Public Drug and Book Co. and by the leading druggist in every town.

CANDIDATE FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR IS NATIVE OF DIXON; IS POPULAR

Fred E. Sterling, G. O. P. Candidate, Born Here June 29, 1869

The people of Dixon and Lee county find an especial interest in the candidacy of Fred E. Sterling of Rockford for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor, for Mr. Sterling is a native of this city and has many relatives and friends here. He was born in Dixon, June 29, 1869, and after attending the public schools here he accompanied his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sterling, on their removal in 1880 to Huron, South Dakota, where he resumed his studies, his boyhood days being spent in helping to develop his father's farm near that town in the pioneer days of the territory. He has figured prominently in newspaper circles in Illinois for about three decades, having for many years been one of the publishers and the editor of the Rockford Daily Register-Gazette, one of the leading Republican newspapers of Illinois. In this way he has exerted no slight influence over public thought and opinion and for an extended period he has aided in shaping the political history of the state as one active in formulating the policy of the Republican organization in Illinois.

For ten years in early manhood Mr. Sterling served as an alderman in Rockford and for twelve years or more was either secretary or chairman of the Winnebago County Republican Central committee, devoting his time and best efforts freely for the success of the party and its nominees. In 1914 he was elected a member of the Republican State Committee from the Twelfth Congressional district and was re-elected in 1918. In the same year he was chosen chairman of the State Central Committee and directed the successful campaign for his party in connection with both state and national tickets, Illinois rolling up record-breaking majorities for the Republican nominees because of the harmony which was brought about. In 1912 Mr. Sterling attended the Republican national convention as a Roosevelt delegate but remained with the party following the nomination of Taft. From 1904 until 1912 he was a member of the Board of Managers of the Illinois State Reformatory and in the latter year became secretary of the State Board of Arbitration, so continuing for two years. He received from Governor Lowden the appointment of member of the Public Utilities Commission on July 1st, 1917, and so continued to serve until January 1, 1919, when he resigned to enter upon his duties as State Treasurer, to which position he was elected by a plurality of nearly 150,000 in the off-year election in November, 1918. He has made a splendid record in the Treasury during the first sixteen months of his term $604,735.57 interest earned on public funds in his custody.

Mr. Sterling was active in his support of Gov. Lowden's presidential candidacy and served as a delegate to the recent national convention in Chicago. He is married and has a son and daughter. His fraternal relations are with the Masons, Elks, Knights of Pythias, Modern Woodmen, Loyal Order of Moose and Royal League. He is also identified with the Kiwanis and with the Hamilton club of Chicago and the Sangamo club of Springfield. When America joined in the world war he put forth every possible effort to sustain the purpose of the government and advance the success of the soldiers in the field.

He has long been an active member of the Illinois Press association and at his home city is affiliated with the Second Congressional church.

Shampoo
Remmo Sterilized Toilet Soap is perfectly suited to shampooing. It is absolutely pure soap—then sterilized at 198° Fahrenheit to keep it pure. Its foamy, creamy lather cleanses thoroughly. It can't possibly injure the hair—or harm scalp. Just the opposite—it is truly beneficial. Removes all dirt, dust and scalp accumulations—then washes out—leaving no trace of soap. The scalp is invigorated. The hair is left soft, fluffy, lustrous, and hair growth stimulated.

You must use Toilet Soap. Why not use the most beneficial. It costs no more.

Man Power and Gasoline Prices

SO LONG as the acute shortage of man-power in the United States continues, the demand for gasoline power will continue to increase.

Every increase in the demand for gasoline power will affect the price of gasoline, because, though petroleum production is continually increasing, it is not keeping pace with the demand for gasoline.

The latest figures available illustrating this point are for March, 1920.

Petroleum Production:	Petroleum Consumption:
Daily Average	Daily Average
1,177,129 bbls.	1,417,129 bbls.
Total for Month	Total for Month
36,491,000 bbls.	43,930,999 bbls.

If production continues for the rest of the year at the rate established in the first quarter, the total production of petroleum for 1920 will be in excess of 410,000,000 barrels.

If consumption continues for the rest of the year at the rate established in the first quarter, the total consumption of petroleum for the year 1920 will be in excess of 495,000,000 barrels.

Or, for the year 1920, consumption may be expected to exceed domestic production of petroleum by 85,000,000 barrels.

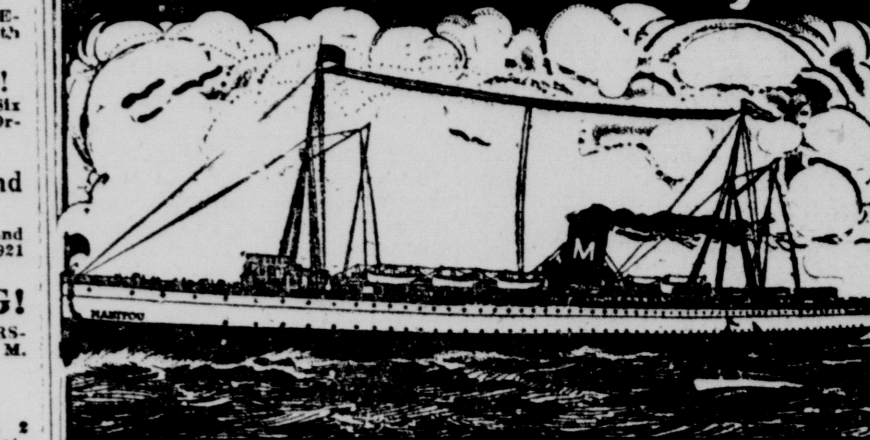

Because of its high-powered organization, trained through years of experience to the interpretation of conditions, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is anticipating increased need for gasoline and is bending every effort to supply the people of the Middle West with the gasoline they need.

It means much to the Middle West to be able to use freely that most important of all labor-saving devices—the automotive machine.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that its greatest service lies in providing at all times, everywhere, and at the lowest possible prices, the gasoline needed to operate these engines of production.

Govt. Takes Hand In Illinois Strike

Springfield, Ill., July 24.—The government's effort to get the Illinois coal miners back to work was started here this morning with the arrival of two of the three department of labor conciliators assigned to the work. They called at the Illinois miners' headquarters, outlining their mission here, and prepared for hearings on Monday.

They are John B. Lennon, of Bloomington, Ill., and William H. Rogers of Alton, Ill. The name of the third conciliator has not been learned. Preparing for the hearing Monday Vice President Fishwick of the state miners' union telegraphed President Frank Farrington, who is visiting his wife at Indianapolis, to return to Springfield at once.

Conditions in the mine fields were little if any improved. All of the mines in central Illinois, including the four which worked yesterday, are down. Operators here, venturing the opinion that there are but twenty-five of the 700 miners of the state working. Coal is becoming increasingly scarce in Springfield. One of the two largest hotels in the city lacks sufficient coal to keep its refrigeration plant running for five days more.

This strike, contrary to all previous strikes in the last few years, finds the radical leaders among the miners, notably Freeman Thompson, of Springfield, on the side of industry. Mr. Thompson yesterday declared his opposition to the strike. "The miners should return to work and stand by their contract," he said.

Lightning Can't Strike if Shinn Gets There First

It has been proven for twenty years, by the experience of thousands of protected buildings all over America, during the most severe electrical storms—that Lightning cannot destroy a building protected by Shinn-Flat Lightning Rods.

Shinn-Flat Lightning Rods Prevent Losses

They are distinctive in design—woven in a flat form—with 36% greater capacity for carrying electricity than old-fashioned rods. All authorities agree that this is the best form of Lightning Rod—the safest and best, also the most attractive and the least conspicuous.

Ask for a copy of the Book on Shinn-Flat, explaining the Cause and Control of Lightning—Free.
